

Quality Policy

Hart Enterprises, Inc. has built its reputation on producing the highest quality medical devices and the best customer service available in the medical industry. Maintaining this reputation is our first priority. Three cardinal principles define our efforts.

Safety

We will provide a safe environment for our employees and the surrounding community. Each employee must be a part of this effort and is responsible to report any unsafe work condition immediately. If a job cannot be done safely it will not be done at all.

Quality

We recognize our responsibility to produce safe, effective medical devices. When producing product, or making decisions, each employee is directed to consider whether they would be willing to have the device they are producing used on themselves or their family. This is a real possibility.

Efficiency

We recognize that quality has a cost. A perfect medical device will not benefit anyone if it never reaches the user because it cannot be afforded. In design, manufacture and inspection we will strive to achieve the highest quality possible at an affordable cost.

At Hart Enterprises, Inc. we are firmly committed to seeking out excellence, rejecting mediocrity and producing safe effective, product efficiently.
